

The Ticking Bomb - Comm Comm

A common “rescue” theme in television shows is where the hero discovers a bomb that is counting down to explode and has to get it away from a crowd of people. This image gives me another way to look at the way Christ carries our sins away. Sin has an explosive nature, and it turns out that Christ carried it away to save us. But He did not fully escape the blast. We will not be harmed by it, though it caused Christ’s body to be broken. He died from it, but was raised again so that He can lead us home with Him in safety. So, here we express our thanks for His action to save us...
